The Company's management uses pro forma operating earnings in their analysis of the Company's performance. This measure, as used by the Company, adjusts operating earnings determined in accordance with GAAP to reflect the elimination of special charges recorded during the periods presented. Specifically, charges relating to restructuring, bonuses and uncompleted acquisition attempts are included in special charges for fiscal year 2004. Management believes presentations of operating earnings reflecting these adjustments provide useful supplemental information in evaluating the operating results of our business. These disclosures should not be viewed as a substitute for operating earnings determined in accordance with GAAP, nor are they necessarily comparable to non-GAAP operating earnings that may be presented by other companies.
